** Interim Approval- Interim approval is granted to new programs for the purpose of admitting students and allowing graduates to take the licensing examination. Programs remain on interim approval until after the first class has graduated. Within one year after the first class graduates, the program must request full approval. A program will be granted full approval when the Board determines all requirements of Chapter II Rules and Regulations have been met.

***Conditional Approval- A program may be placed on conditional approval status if the Board determines that the program does not meet all of the provisions contained in the Rules and Regulations related to educational programs. Conditional approval allows the program to continue to operate while correcting deficiencies and working to return to full approval.

NOTE: Recognized nursing accrediting Commissions: National League for Nursing Accreditation Commission (NLNAC) and Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE)
