ORDER ADOPTING
EMERGENCY RULES

STATEMENT

BY THE COMMISSION:

At the November 9, 1993, Commission Special Open Meeting, Commission Staff presented a review of rules pertaining to applications filed with the Commission and of current procedures concerning the processing of those applications. A statute mandates that, absent waiver by the Applicant, the Commission deems an application complete and then issues its decision on an application within specified timeframes after the application is deemed complete. The statute further requires that the application be deemed complete in accordance with prescribed rules promulgated by the Commission, § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S. (1993). Our rules governing applications (generally, Rules 50 to 59 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure, 4 CCR 723-1) were adopted before the enactment of § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S. The existing application rules specify the content of applications filed with the Commission and the information to be filed with applications.

In their presentation at the Special Open Meeting, Staff members raised the serious issues that the Commission's existing rules do not address the procedure by which the Commission will deem an application complete and that the Commission's existing procedural rules have timeframes that potentially conflict with those of the statute or that might result in the Commission's inability to meet the statutory timeframes. Staff also discussed the interrelationship of § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S., with other statutory provisions containing specified timeframes (See, e.g., § 40-6-109(2), C.R.S., concerning exceptions to initial decisions; § 40-6-114, C.R.S., concerning applications for rehearing, reargument, or reconsideration).

Specifically, with respect to the absence of a procedure, Staff stated that the statute was amended in 1993 to add § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S.; that § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S., requires the Commission to issue its decision on an application within a specified time after the application is deemed complete; that applications have been filed, and continue to be filed, with the Commission since the enactment of § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S.; and that the absence of a specific procedure for deeming an application complete has hampered processing of the filed applications. Further, Staff explained that the absence of specific procedures has created uncertainty about when an application is deemed complete under the statute, about who is authorized to deem an application complete, and about how an application is deemed complete. It is this uncertainty which, in turn, has hampered the processing of applications. Finally, Staff explained that the current rules governing applications do not address the procedural issues created by recently-enacted § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S. As a result, the Commission has had to waive its existing rules and to proceed on a case-by-case basis.

With respect to the issue of timeframes, Staff stated that a review of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure revealed that a number of the procedural rules contain timeframes that cannot be reconciled easily with the statutorily-imposed deadline for a Commission decision on an application. For example, Rule 77 governing discovery contains timeframes which conflict with the statutory requirement that the Commission issue a decision within 120 or 210 days from the date an application is deemed complete. Similarly, the timeframes in Rule 92 pertaining to exceptions to recommended decisions need to be adjusted to comport with the statutory requirements. Further, the rules contain no limitation or restriction on rescheduling hearing dates or otherwise enlarging time during the hearing and review process; this could result in our being unable to meet the statutory deadlines.

Staff urged us to set specific limits and procedures as quickly as possible to inform all parties and potential parties of the statutory requirements, of the statutory timeframes, and of the resulting regulatory changes. Staff stated that the Rules of Practice and Procedure need to be amended immediately to assure that the Commission can meet its statutory obligations while providing notice and reasonable opportunity to be heard to parties in the application dockets.

We find that the addition of § 40-6-109.5, C.R.S., has fundamentally changed the way in which we consider and process applications. Further, this change is a pervasive one that requires considerable adjusting of, and possible restructuring of, our existing rules and procedures. In particular, our existing rules on applications and our existing rules governing hearings and pre- and post-hearing processes are insufficient and inadequate in light of the newly-enacted statutory provision.

In order to address this problem, we now determine that immediate adoption of the attached emergency rules is imperatively necessary to permit the Commission to comply with a state law. We find that compliance with rulemaking notice and comment requirements as set forth in the Administrative Procedure Act, § 24-4-103, C.R.S., would be contrary to the public interest in that failure to amend existing rules and to add new rules governing the process by which applications are deemed complete could result in the Commission's failure to meet the statutorily-imposed deadlines. Further, emergency rules that are immediately effective will serve the public interest in that they will provide guidelines for, and guidelines to, the Commission, Commission Staff, and members of the public while the Commission proceeds with the permanent rulemaking necessary to implement the statute.

The attached emergency rules address the issues identified by Staff and the Commission by creating three new procedural rules: Rule 69, which governs processing railroad applications; Rule 70, which governs processing fixed utilities applications; and Rule 71, which governs processing transportation utilities applications. In addition, Rules 77 and 92 are amended to align them with the statutory requirement that the Commission issue its decision within specified timeframes. Further, Rules 50, 51, 55, 56, 57, and 58 are amended to reference the procedural requirements of Rules 69, 70, and 71 and to make it clear that the Commission will reject an application that does not meet the requirements of the applicable rule. Finally, existing Rule 70 regarding nomenclature is renumbered as Rule 68 to allow for new Rules 69 and 70 and is reworded to reflect current Commission practice.

It is our belief that these new rules and changes to existing rules will further serve the public interest by encouraging applicants to file complete and detailed information in support of applications. This, in turn, should permit all interested parties to have an opportunity to present their views to us and should also allow us to give applications thorough and thoughtful review and consideration within the statutory timeframes.

For these reasons, we determine that the attached emergency rules should be adopted immediately and without notice. The attached emergency rules are to become effective on December 10, 1993, and are to be in effect for 90 days following that date. We will initiate proceedings to adopt permanent rules to replace the attached emergency rules within this 90-day period.

The statutory authority for the attached emergency rules is found at §§ 40-2-108, 40-3-102, and 40-6-109.5, C.R.S. (1993).

THEREFORE THE COMMISSION ORDERS THAT:

1. The emergency rules attached to this Order are hereby adopted to be effective on December 10, 1993. Such rules shall be in effect for 90 days from December 10, 1993, or until replaced by permanent rules, whichever period is less.

2. Within 20 days following adoption, the attached emergency rules and this Decision shall be filed with the Secretary of State along with the Attorney General's opinion regarding the legality of the rules.

3. The adopted emergency rules (attached) shall also be filed with the Office of Legislative Legal Services within 20 days following the Attorney General's opinion regarding the legality of the emergency rules.

4. The 20-day time period provided for by § 40-6-114(1), C.R.S., to file an application for rehearing, reargument, or reconsideration begins on the first day after the mailing or serving of this Decision and Order.

This Order is effective on its Mailed Date.

ADOPTED IN OPEN MEETING November 9, 1993.
