RE: Docket No. 03F-350T

To Whom It May Concern:

The telephone numbers that were disconnected were: 970-626-9726; 970-626-3734; 970-626-5341; 970-626-5806.

The three phone lines that were combined improperly were: 970-626-5806; 970-626-9726; 970-626-5341.

The dates the service was interrupted were: February 31, 2003 and July 29, 2003. The three phone numbers involved with this disconnection are as follows: 970-626-9726; 970-626-5806; 970-626-5341.

I want a refund for any over billings. I also want all lines on separate billings. Restitution for loss of Business due to the disconnect and reimbursement for loss of wages.

Thank You
Gary W. Smith

Dear Mr. Smith:

Re: Docket No. 03F-350T - Gary W. Smith v. Qwest Corporation

Your formal complaint is set for hearing. I enclosed a notice that tells you the date, time and place of your hearing along with a copy of an "Order to Satisfy or Answer" that was sent to the utility with a copy of your complaint.

If you are not represented by an attorney, it is important that you become familiar with the process of a formal complaint and how a formal PUC hearing is conducted. An enclosed publication, called "Formal Complaint Procedures," is designed to help you. It includes a pre-hearing procedures check list, a hearing procedures check list, a post-hearing procedures check list, and a glossary of terms.

Although the hearing may take place in a less formal setting than a courtroom, it is much like a court hearing or trial. An Administrative Law Judge (ALJ) will hear the case, and a court reporter will make a record of the proceeding.

If you have questions about any of the procedures explained in this publication, contact Ken Kirkpatrick at 303-894-2840. He will not give you legal advice but can answer your questions about the formal complaint process.

You should anticipate that the utility will be represented by an attorney. As an individual, you may represent yourself. You will have to follow the same rules of evidence as the utility's attorney, and you will have the same rights as the utility. The ALJ will see that a fair hearing is conducted, but cannot help one side or the other. There will be no one from the Commission to assist you at the hearing.

The burden is on you, as the complaining party, to prove your case. The utility is not required to defend itself or to present any evidence until you have presented evidence against it.

Very truly yours,

Bruce N. Smith
